PATRON'S DAY AT FOURTH STREET SCHOOL.

In response to two hundred invitations the friends and patrons of the Fourth street grammar school were delightfully entertained on Friday afternoon, April 1, from 2 to 5 at the school building.

The walls of one of the vacant rooms of the building were generously covered with specimens of the work in all the lines by pupils of all the grades from first to the eighth inclusive.

From the water color and crayon sketches, paper tearing, paper folding, paper weaving, raffia work and hammock weaving of the first and second grades to the more elaborate designs and work in every line of school arts of the upper grades intelligent application was shown. Special mention might be made of the crafts work of the fifth, sixth and seventh grades, which included wastepaper baskets, book covers, sofa pillow covers, stenciled window curtains and table covers. The eighth grade displayed some especially strong work in water color, crayon, charcoal and pencil. The essentials were not forgotten, for there were displayed spelling, arithmetic, language, geography, history, English and physiology papers showing the whole class work.

The eighth grade, numbering twenty-six, assisted the teachers in receiving and entertaining the guests.

County Superintendent Mark Keppel was an interested visitor and gave one of his most entertaining talks at the close of the following program, which was rendered by the eighth grade:

ELECTRIC LIGHTING PLANT. PROGRESS MADE.

Glendale now has an electric lighting system installed on practically all of the streets as far east as Adams and by the time we go to press it is expected that lights on Third street east to Verdugo Road and one at the corner of Verdugo Road and Fourth street will be added to the circuit. There are five lights on Third street between Adams and Verdugo. Poles have been set down Verdugo Road to the city limits and are almost all in place on the remainder of this section of the city, but there will be some delay in getting the lights in circuit on account of lack of wire which is expected daily. The present plans call for 175 more poles in various sections of the city. There were fifty new consumers connected up in March. So far construction keeps well within the estimates.

POPULAR YOUNG PEOPLE WED.

A special event in the social world of Glendale this week was the wedding which took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Newhall, 132 Jackson street, Wednesday evening, when Miss Mabel Julia Newhall was united in matrimony to Charles Wilbur McFadden. Both young people are well known here. The wedding announcement did not come entirely as a surprise to the friends of the young couple, as their engagement had for some time been rumored.

The affair took place promptly at 8 o'clock, the pretty ring ceremony being performed by Rev. J. F. Humphrey, pastor of the Methodist church. To the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march the bridal party entered the living room which with den was attractively decorated with flowers and greenery. In one corner of the room was a floral arch, composed of roses, ferns and smilax and beneath this the contracting parties stood as Rev. Humphrey read the words which joined them for life. Miss Elsie Baldwin very skilfully performed at the piano.

The young people were attended by Miss Mable Harris of Moneta, while Arthur Miner of West Glendale acted as best man.

Immediately following the service a luncheon was informally served to the fifty guests present. Thursday morning the newly-weds left for a short wedding trip to San Diego. Upon returning they will remain in Los Angeles until the new home which the groom is erecting at the corner of Lomita avenue and Brand boulevard is completed.

The wedding service was witnessed by about fifty friends from this city, Los Angeles, Fullerton and Moneta.

GLENDALE, CAL., APRIL 8, 1910

Contributors and correspondents are reminded that articles must be in our possession by 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to ensure publication in the NEWS, which goes to press on Thursday.

Lee Gates, who is supposed to have had ambitions senateward, but who was passed by in the selection of Judge Works, has joined a women's suffrage club. Lee will have gray hairs or none before the suffragettes can give him a political office.

The action of Col. Roosevelt in connection with his conduct in Rome, must meet with the approval of all good Americans of whatever creed. Both Catholics and Methodists over here must feel that their fellows in the faith over in Rome have demonstrated their lack of knowledge and good judgment.

Sidney A. Butler of Los Angeles is to enter the contest in his district for the nomination for supervisor to succeed Eldridge. We congratulate the district that has a chanec to put a good servant into the place of a very bad one. Mr. Butler is a high-minded capable citizen who should receive the unanimous support of his district.

A CORRECTION.

We regret for Mr. Leighton's sake that our account of his hot houses and their output, published in last week's issue, was incorrect in stating that the income from one house is one hundred dollars a day. He informs us that this amount represents a week's income instead of a daily one. For sixteen-inch cucumbers it did not strike our reporter that the sum named was excessive, but we are anxious to preserve our reputation—whatever it is—and therefore the correction.

We learn upon unreliable authority that Captain Richard Pierson Hobson intends, if the Hon. Philip Stanton is nominated by the Republicans of California for governor, to take the stump against him. Capt. Richard Pierson Hobson is one of the curiously constituted human beings who seem to believe that war between the United States and Japan is a matter that can only be delayed a few weeks and that they should spend the intervening period in firing broadsides of Jeremiads into the atmosphere. If we really thought that Hobson was coming in the event of Stanton's being nominated, it would clearly be our duty in the interests of humanity to beseech Mr. Stanton not to run—to sit still or fly or anything in fact except run, and thus bring down upon a peace-loving people an invasion of Hobson!

GAS AND LIGHT.

The Los Angeles Times says that Glendale is to have gas within forty-five days. Let us hope that the rumor may be confirmed. The Domestic Gas company is pushing the work in a manner that is much more worthy of regard than any "90-day" promises. Speaking of gas suggests reflections in regard to our municipal lighting system of which we are now reaping the first benefits in the way of street lights, the first of which were turned on a few nights ago. If there were any doubts in the minds of our people as to the benefits to be derived from this experiment in municipal ownership, they are now no doubt being dispelled, never again, we hope, to materialize. Our streets, although not yet as completely lighted as they soon will be, are no longer shrouded in gloom after nightfall and in the business portion of the city particularly it is noticeable that there are many more people promenading on the sidewalks during the evening. A satisfactory lighting service where there was none of any kind before, a reduction in rates for electricity and an excellent prospect of the plant paying for itself with gradual improvement in service and still lower rates to consumers, verily, we have much to be thankful for.

THE ELECTION.

Before this paper goes to press again, the municipal election in Glendale will have passed and the city's officials be named for the next two years. Whatever the result may be we congratulate the people upon their sane conduct of the campaign. Probably there have been statements made in a more or less private manner reflecting upon some of the candidates, but of these the general public knows nothing, and does not need to be informed. As we have said before there is no issue dividing the people; all of the candidates possess ability and have good records in their private life. There is always more or less risk in trying new officials, but in Glendale there are no conditions implying that the risk is great and always there is the possibility that a public officer from whom not much is expected will give the best service, while the reverse is equally true. The NEWS has no advice to give the people as to whom they should support, and will be perfectly satisfied with the result. We take this stand not through any fear of giving offense, but because we candidly can conceive of no good reason why any one of the men in nomination should not make a good officer. We do, however, advise every voter to exercise his prerogative as a citizen and to turn out on Monday to cast a vote.

THE ROCKEFELLER FOUNDATION.

Now that the first enthusiasm over the matter has passed away, the people who take the trouble to think about the matter at all are beginning to doubt the beneficence behind Mr. Rockefeller's "foundation" for the "benefit of humanity."

The sober second thought suggests the possibility that there may be insurmountable difficulties between a bequest on such an immense scale for such a purpose, and the practical and effectual application of a fund of such proportions, so as to attain the object desired. Notwithstanding the idea which many people cherish that they could dispense such a sum wisely and "for the good of humanity," it is a matter of serious doubt whether any individual or aggregation of individuals can be found endowed with such wisdom and such single-minded unselfish devotion to humanity. Certainly we may be privileged to doubt the ability and unselfishness of any purely political commission, such as the congress of the United States might select, to honestly and efficiently do the work. Such a commission no doubt would consist of some college professors and ministers of the gospel representing the causes of education and religion, but even if they should prove perfectly honest in the administration of the trust, and that is assuming a good deal, they would be beset by the pleas of enthusiastic "reformers" of all sorts and descriptions from all parts of the known universe, and none of the pleaders would be satisfied except the few who secured what they asked for. No one understands the power of mere money better than does Mr. Rockefeller, and it is worse than foolish to doubt that now when he is still in possession of his faculties and realizes that he must soon pass from the stage of human action, he sincerely desires his wealth to minister to the welfare of his fellows. But the fact is that he has created a power which cannot be wisely controlled by him or any other man, a creature like Mrs. Shelley's Frankenstein, possessing dreadful attributes, but devoid of a conscience. The thing most desirable in regard to Mr. Rockefeller's great fortune, is that it should be distributed, not merely transferred, and no one channel be it government commission or anything else, can be broad enough, wide enough and deep enough to carry it all to the places where it will do the most good.

DETAILS NOT TO BE TAUGHT.

We are not sure that the suggestion has been actually put into effect, but it has been seriously proposed in the city of Chicago by some one of influence in educational circles, that details of battles be no longer taught in the public schools. Somewhere we have read recently a phillipic against teaching military drills to school boys or allowing them to carry toy guns, because both would have a tendency to emulate the military spirit. It is probably necessary in the general scheme of things that there should exist people possessing ideas at variance with the well proven theories of the ages founded upon human experience, but nevertheless there seems to be a tendency toward mollycoddlism which is out of proportion to the demand for variety. If we begin to cut out details in the history of battles, how long will it be until at the behest of some jellyfish in the guise of a reformer, we must cut out any reference to battles at all and teach only the history of peace congresses and mothers' meetings? The history of a battle can only be written in detail and the details of many a conflict between opposing armies are the only things that survive. Who can tell anything about the battle of Mommouth except that it was there that the name of Molly Pitcher was given to the world? There are few who are familiar with the story of the battle of Balaklava, but there are many who know the detail of the charge of the Light Brigade! When the last member of that fast disappearing remnant of the Grand Army shall have passed away not many will know much of the battle of Winchester except that it was there that "Sheridan saved the day." The details of battles if taken out of our literature would leave it barren indeed. Notwithstanding the awfulness of war, we doubt if there are many more wholesome influences in the building up of manly character than the thrill of quick rushing blood through the veins of a boy as he listens to the recitation of some more or less familiar story of a battle. Perhaps it is the story of David and Goliath(the name of the battle is forgotten), a mere detail of a conflict, but it makes him better while the thrill continues. The youthful mind instinctively turns to sympathy with the side that to him seems to be in the right and the battles which he fights in fancy are always fought in behalf of the down trodden and oppressed. There is much in the military training that is peculiarly adapted to the development of ideal manhood and instead of decrying it, we should rather see it made a part of the life of every boy in the land. Although productive of unmeasurable suffering, war is yet a purifier and a means of progress, and the great battles of the world have resulted in undoubted benefit to the human race. The warlike spirit is not necessarily a contentious spirit, it is one that has high ideals of patriotism and sacrifice and it will be an unfortunate day for any nation when it ceases to have influence over the minds of its people.

AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Interest in this institution which is kept going by a small tax rate levied yearly, is gradually growing as our people become acquainted with the good work being done by the library board and the librarian is catering to their wishes in providing good literature in quantities limited only by the smallness of the annual appropriation. There has recently been added $150 worth of standard fiction, and additions by purchase and donation are frequently made, a small number of persons feeling a more than average interest in the library, being particularly thoughtful in giving books and periodicals, with the latter of which the library is really well supplied. One valuable addition recently made is a Magazine Reference Work, an index to articles published in periodicals, which is of great value to students particularly. It is hoped that before long it will be possible to have the library open at least a part of each week day, as many who would otherwise patronize it, fail to remember that it is only open on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

ANNUAL MEETING OF WATER COMPANY.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Verdugo Pipe and Reservoir Co. was held at Kober's store last Monday evening. This is one of the largest of the water distributing companies of this section, having about 1350 of the ten thousand parts of the Verdugo canyon water and supplies that portion of Glendale east of the Childs tract line. There was a good attendance at the meeting and the financial statement was very satisfactory, showing a reduction of the debt of the company to an amount of $2500 with a good balance in the treasury, as against an indebtedness of over $5000 three years ago. Election of directors for the coming year resulted in the selection of the following: G. W. Benson, R. H. Brown, Simeon Grant, R. W. Meeker and J. C. Sherer. Officers elected were J. C. Sherer, president; G. W. Benson, vice president; R. H. Brown, treasurer; C. E. Parker, secretary.

MONDAY'S ELECTION

Information for Voters—H. P. Coker and Harry M. Miller make Announcements

On Monday, April 11th occurs the municipal election in Glendale City. The polls at the city hall will be open from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. Qualified voters are all voters whose names appear on the old register for 1908 for Glendale precinct, still residing in the precinct, and such new voters as were registered in the precinct on or before March 16th last. The officials to be voted for are as follows: A city clerk, a city marshal, a city tax collector and treasurer, two members of the board of trustees for four-year terms and one member of the board of trustees for a two-year term. The candidates are as follows:

City clerk, G. B. Woodberry; marshal, H. M. Miller and Richard Pierce; tax collector and treasurer, H. G. Dominy. It will be seen that Messrs. Woodberry and Dominy are the only candidates for their respective offices. For marshal, H. M. Miller is the incumbent. Mr. Pierce is in the transfer business at the Glendale stables. The candidates for trustee are as follows:

For Trustees:

Two-year term—L. E. Brockman, O. A. Lane.
(Vote for One.)

Four-year term—H. P. Coker, J. P. Shropshire, John Rbt White, jr.
(Vote for Two.)

On the ballots, in the first column will be found the names of the following as candidates of the "Citizen's ticket:"

City Clerk—G. B. Woodberry.
City Marshal—Richard Pierce.
Tax Collector and Treasurer—H. G Dominy.
Trustees for Four-Year Term—J. P. Shropshire, John Robert White, jr.
Trustees for Two-Year Term—L. E Brockman.

In the first column on the ballot will be noticed a circle; a cross marked in this circle by the voter means a vote for all the candidates named in that column—in other words, a vote for every candidate of the "Citizen's Party." In the other column appears the names of the other candidates, each one nominated independently by petition. To vote for all of the candidates in the second column, it is necessary to make a stamp opposite every name thereon; there being no circle which being marked indicates a vote for every one of these candidates, the group having no party designation.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Having received the voluntary endorsement of a large portion of the residents of Glendale for the office of city trustee I feel it my duty to say that should I be elected I certainly shall perform the duties involved for the benefit of the whole city. I hereby make the positive statement that I am not bound to any faction, clique or combination that has for its object anything but the clean, moral upbuilding of the community. I make the assertion that no man will control my vote on the board except where the object sought is right, and for the good of all. I have not made any pre-election promises and shall not. Every man must stand on his own merit.

H. P. COKER.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Having been nominated for the office of city marshal of the City of Glendale by the Glendale and vicinity Improvement association, I hereby accept the nomination and thank the friends who seem to have confidence in my ability and integrity. If it is a right thing for a man to be judged on his merits and by his willingness to impartially do his duty in so far as he apprehends it, I ask the voters of Glendale to so judge me, and to ignore the efforts of the malicious pre-election slanderer. In striking contrast to the methods of some who are working against me, I have nothing to say of the man opposing me. Save that it may be of general interest to the taxpayer that he declines to have anything to do with the dog problem, and the cleaning of the streets, part of the work I have been doing. By performing this part of my duties in so far as my spare time would allow me, a citizen has charged me with keeping another man out of a job. That is a question the taxpayers are well able to settle, but I will say that for the salary paid I am willing to give honest return. If re-elected I shall endeavor to do my duty to the satisfaction of the people and enforce the law with judgment and that tact for which some parts of the work calls and with which past experience has now made me familiar. My residence, 200 feet from the fire house, is of no small importance in case of fire, especially at night. In again soliciting the votes of the people of Glendale I will state that I am in full accord with the temperance sentiment of the city, statements to the contrary notwithstanding. If on this question or any other a man is denied the right to change his honest opinion he is opposed to progress. I thank those who have supported me in the past and to those unacquainted with me. I have stated my position as fairly as I know how.

HARRY M. MILLER,
City Marshal of the City of Glendale.

Your Checks are Receipts

"Pay as you go" is an excellent maxim provided you "pay-by-check." It's foolish to carry money on the person, except for the smallest purchases and incidentals, for aside from the care and inconvenience there is always the danger of theft or loss.

But with a check-book of this bank in your pocket the inconvenience and worry is eliminated. You write out a check for the exact amount of each purchase, your check-stub is a record for reference and the check itself will later be returned to you by the bank and may be retained as a receipt.

Some persons may think of the check account as being complicated. Nothing could be more simple, however. We keep books for you and there is a record for your every transaction.

THE ANNEXATION QUESTION.

Edgar Leavitt.

Editor Glendale News:

That was a funny performance at the High School auditorium last Friday night where the anti-annexationists on the west and north of the city of Glendale, without engaging the hall, or issuing a formal call, and without any chairman, and regardless of parliamentary rule or order, met to protest against being annexed to Glendale suddenly, against their will and "unbeknownst to them."

The Glendale citizens who had engaged the hall, and regularly called a meeting to consider a celebration of the installation of our municipal electric light system, very properly gave way to their neighbors, seeing the mistake that had been made, and realizing that their failure to give way might be misunderstood in an unfriendly sense. It is a good thing that interest in the question is aroused. This is far better than indifference. Now our neighbors on the west and north are interested there is some chance for a campaign of education which that evening's performance shows is much needed.

Mr. Muhleman of Lomita made some good points and we believe the Improvement association of Glendale and vicinity is fully competent under the lead of such men as he to lay the matter before the voters ofthe territory concerned in such a light that a two-thirds majority of them will eventually be convinced that their interest is to come in.

Nevertheless we should like to nail down a few facts always to be kept in mind throughout this discussion:

1st. It takes a two-thirds majority, not in Glendale and the proposed territory taken together, but a two-thirds majority in each to bring it in.

2d. Not only Glendale can not force any territory in that two-thirds of whose voters do not wish to come in, but we do not wish to, even if we could. It would be poor policy, for it would breed everlasting dissension.

3d. That such movements are never unanimous and some people have to do what they do not wish to, that is a small minority has sometimes to be benefited or disadvantaged against its will.

4th. That it is a gross exaggeration to say that taxation inside is double what it is outside the city limits.

5th. That the saving on electric light bills alone will compensate several times over for any increase in taxes, for almost every one in that territory.

6th. That the railroads can not be compelled to grant lower rates because of annexation to Los Angeles.

7th. That the people in question will find themselves of far less account in a large city like Los Angeles than in a small city like Glendale.

8th. That annexation to Los Angeles will not bring the annexed territory any nearer the business center of that city than it is at present and will not increase its natural advantages in the least, and there is no reason, therefore why it should increase its property values more than annexation to Glendale would do.

9th. That large cities are far more liable to extravagance and corruption and vicious conditions than small ones and that this valley is free from the corrupt and corrupting elements than Los Angeles.

10th. That this valley has water enough for all reasonable uses, which can be pumped directly from the strata beneath, enough for a city of 100,000 people. That the city of Los Angeles owns only a paramount right to the water to be used in case of her necessity, and when the Owens river water comes she can no longer plead any necessity for depriving this valley of the entire use of all its underlying waters; besides, with the Owens river turned into the valley as proposed, there will be more pumpable water here than ever before. And if we are ever in need of having more water we can purchase of Los Angeles on the same terms as other municipalities—Pasadena, for instance,—which will never consent to lose her identity in Los Angeles.

11th. As to the sewage problem, a way will be discovered to take care of that. Running it into the ocean as many cities are doing is a waste and a sin. There are better ways of doing now in operation and we shall find them out. Amid all our talk of conservation, it is high time to talk of utilizing the millions of dollars lost in sewage that is now run into the sea. China, Japan and various countries of Europe are away ahead of us now in this respect.

Talk it over, brethren, talk it over.

A Merited Rebuke.

At the age of eighty-six Mme. Reynolds still found much zest in life, and, having retained all her faculties, she felt that a few of the physical disabilities of her age were of small account and portended nothing. Her nephew Thomas was a man of much worth, but of a certain tactlessness of speech, which always roused the ire of his aunt.

A few weeks before the old lady's eighty-seventh birthday Thomas, who had been overweighted with business cares for years, started on a trip round the world which was to consume two years.

"I've come to say goodby," he announced when he appeared at his aunt's house in a town fifty miles distant from his home. "I'm starting round the world next week, and as I'm to be gone two years and perhaps longer I thought I might not ever—well, you understand, I wanted to be sure to see you once more."

The old lady leaned forward, fixing him with her beadlike eyes.

"Thomas," she said imperatively, "do you mean to tell me the doctor doesn't think you'll live to get back?"—Youth's Companion.

Perpetual Motion.

Little Jimmy had arrived at the questioning age. He had just made an inquiry concerning perpetual motion of his father.

"No," said his father; "nobody has ever discovered perpetual motion yet."

But Jimmy was not quite satisfied. "What is perpetual motion like, dad?" he asked next.

His father thought a moment. "Why, it's pretty hard to say, Jimmy," he replied, "but it's something that keeps going and going forever. Here is an illustration. I once saw a woman in a train who had put on her gloves. She then tried to button her right hand glove, but she found that she must take off her left hand glove to do so. She took it off and buttoned the right hand glove. Then she saw that in order to button her left hand glove she must take off her right hand glove, which she did. Then she put on her left hand glove, buttoned it and put on the right hand one again. But she couldn't button her right hand glove with her left hand glove on, so she took off— That, Jimmy," he said after a pause for breath, "is what perpetual motion would be like if you could get it."

A Remarkable Dinner Service.

The remarkable dinner service made by Josiah Wedgwood for the Russian empress, Catherine II., in 1774 consists of 952 pieces, and on each piece is painted a different view. The body is of a pale brimstone color, and the views are painted in a rich mulberry purple. As the service was intended to be used at the palace of La Grenouilliere (meaning marshy place full of frogs), each piece also bears a green frog within a shield on the rim. The views represent British ruined castles, abbeys, parks, bridges, towers, etc. Several pieces are decorated with views of Hampstead, and there are custard cups with views of Richmond and sauce boats with the scenery of Windsor park. In many cases the views are the only pictorial records left of the old buildings. Altogether there are 1,282 views painted on the 952 pieces.—Connoisseur.

What Was Missing.

Dr. Watson (Ian Maclaren) used to tell a story about his trip to the Holy Land, to which he had been looking forward for a number of years with pleasurable anticipation.

As he was nearing the center of historic Palestine he met an American who was making all haste to get away. After such greetings as two English speaking men meeting in a foreign country might exchange the American asked Dr. Watson where he was going.

"To Jerusalem," was the reply.

"Jerusalem!" exclaimed the American in tones of unfeigned disgust. "You don't want to go there. I've just come away. It's a slow town. Why, there isn't a single daily newspaper in the whole place!"

The Flag at Half Mast.

The custom of showing the flag at half mast originated from the way at sea of showing the pre-eminence one ship had over the other in time of warfare. The vanquished always had to lower its flag, while the victor's would be raised as high as possible in exultation. To lower a flag is an act of submission or betokens respect to a superior or is a signal of distress. The hoisting of a flag half mast high came to be used, therefore, as a sign of mourning and respect.

Not Enough to Go Around.

"What are you laughing at, dear?" asked a fond mother of a little four-year-old miss who seemed to be greatly amused.

"Oh, at something funny that happened," was the reply, "but it's no use to tell you, because it isn't funny enough for both of us to laugh at."—Chicago News.

Home Course In Domestic Science

V.—Some Breakfast Suggestions.

By EDITH G. CHARLTON,

In Charge of Domestic Economy, Iowa State College.

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

WHEN one has acquired some knowledge of food materials and what their function is in the body the question that naturally arises is what foods should be combined in order to have a well balanced meal. Without doubt every kind of food has some value in the diet and for some people is a good food. The question is who may eat it, how much should be eaten and when. Personal peculiarities must be taken into consideration in the discussion of food and food values. A safe rule for any person to follow is to avoid any food which disagrees with him. There is always something else that will furnish an equal amount of nourishment and fill all the requirements of food. If cabbage and radishes make you uncomfortable each time you partake of them, why eat them at all? They are largely water, woody fiber, with some mineral matter and flavoring extracts, and any of these ingredients can be obtained from any other vegetable or fruit and possibly at less cost to the digestive organs.

Then, too, the matter of nourishment and cost should always be considered when planning the meals for a day. When cucumbers, which are more than 90 per cent water, are selling for 25 cents apiece the housekeeper is hardly excusable if she provides them for her family at the expense of eggs, milk, bread or some other food from which nourishment is derived. Eggs contain about 14 per cent tissue building material. Dried beans have about 20 per cent of the same constituent. When the former are selling for 40 cents a dozen and the latter for 5 cents a quart it is the part of wisdom and thrift to have baked beans on the table more frequently than omelets or souffles.

The best all round dinner will include a clear soup to stimulate the digestive juices, a properly cooked meat dish, a vegetable or two—one fresh if possible—bread and butter, to which a simple dessert, preferably fresh fruit, is added. Tea and coffee are not necessary for nourishment or for aids to digestion. In fact, it is better to omit them altogether. Once a day is often enough to serve meat to any family. Even the farmer who is engaged in active outdoor work will be just as well fed and better nourished if he eats flesh food only once a day and gets his tissue building material from eggs, beans, macaroni and cheese or some other of the proteid foods. Sensible people are learning, even if slowly, that a large amount of meat is not necessary in the diet of even hard-working people.

What Is For Breakfast?

Many housekeepers consider the bugaboo of their daily work is arranging the menus for the ever recurring breakfast, dinner and supper. They hail with delight any suggestions for new dishes that will furnish variety in any bill of fare. Breakfast is generally a light meal in most homes, but its simple menu should present some variety, and every dish included in it should be prepared with special care. In my opinion, meat dishes should appear but seldom on the breakfast table, a little thinly sliced bacon or a piece of delicately browned fish being the exception. There is generally quite enough starch, too, in the breakfast menu without serving potatoes. For your consideration let me suggest one or two breakfast menus that will be not only appetizing, but furnish the required amount of nutriment as well:

Baked Apples.
Cereal With Cream and Sugar.
Bacon and Poached Eggs.
Hot Muffins, Jam.
Coffee.

Sliced Oranges.
Cereal With Cream and Sugar.
Codfish Balls.
Griddlecakes With Sirup.
Toast and Cocoa.

Fruit of Any Kind.
Bacon and Griddlecakes.
Toast. Coffee.

Any one of these menus affords enough variety to satisfy the most exacting appetite and can be served in quantity sufficient to appease any hunger. The majority of people will not care for the entire bill of fare, which, however, is varied enough to please any taste.

Fruit should always form a part of every breakfast. Nothing else can take its place in spite of the waitress at a certain hotel insisting when I asked for fruit, "We haven't any fruit, but we have several kinds of breakfast foods." Uncooked fruit is better for breakfast than preserves, though much less of the first is seen on the table in country homes. A little jam or marmalade or a fruit butter is a delicious relish with the toast or hot bread at the end of the meal.

A dainty breakfast dish which I have enjoyed at homes where meat never appeared was designated by the simple name fruit toast. To make it toast slices of bread carefully and keep hot in the warming oven. To one cupful of strawberry or raspberry juice heated to a boiling point add one-half tablespoonful of cornstarch diluted with a little cold water. Cook until boiling, stirring constantly until thickened. Pour this over the slices of toast and serve hot, with cream if desired. A cupful of the fruit sauce will be required for each three slices of bread.

Bacon as It Should Be.

Bacon for breakfast is appetizing and if properly cooked is a dish so easy of digestion that it may be eaten by invalids, and young children may be given bacon gravy. But, like many of our standard foods, it is so simple that its preparation is often neglected and it comes to the table grease soaked and unappetizing.

In order to slice bacon properly it must be cold and firm. Cut off the rind and tough lower skin, then slice very thin. Heat a frying pan until it is very hot, place the bacon in it and turn constantly until it is crisp. Do not serve bacon that looks greasy and fat. It must be dry, and each slice as it is fried should be drained on brown paper before going to the table.

After frying three or four slices or as many as can be done at one time in the skillet pour out all the fat and reheat the pan again.

Precautions.

Bacon, being nearly all fat, is more digestible than pork, which is part lean and part fat, and therefore is better for persons of weak digestion. Beef and all dark meats are more stimulating than white meats and should be avoided by persons having a tendency to rheumatism.

A Cup of Good Coffee.

Though I have said that coffee itself is not nourishing, that it would better be avoided by persons of nervous temperament or by those whose digestion is easily deranged, there are a sufficient number of persons to whom the cup of breakfast coffee is almost a necessity to make it important that coffee should be properly made. There are physiological objections to even the perfectly made article, but these can be greatly increased if the beverage is not prepared carefully. Occasionally it is difficult to procure cream for the morning cup of coffee, and when cold milk is used the concoction is most unpalatable. The French and German cooks have a method by which they substitute hot milk for cream, giving most satisfactory results. Cafe au lait, as the beverage is called, is made after the following recipe:

One cup of ground coffee, one egg, one cupful of cold water, five cupfuls of boiling water and one and one-half cupfuls of scalded milk. Wash the egg, break and beat. Add crushed shell and the cold water. Mix with the water and let stand about ten minutes. Add the boiling water and stir thoroughly. Place on the front of the range, bring slowly to the boiling point and boil three minutes, no longer. Add about one-half cupful of cold water after removing from the fire and do not allow the coffee to boil again. Strain into another coffeepot or pitcher containing the scalded milk. When serving add sugar and a little cream if necessary. When cream is scarce this is a most satisfactory method of making coffee.

Cooked cereal or one of the numerous prepared breakfast foods usually has a place on most breakfast menus. If properly and sufficiently cooked nothing can surpass in public favor and in nutriment the time honored dish of oatmeal and cream. But unless it has been cooked a sufficient length of time to insure the thorough cooking of the starch the prepared breakfast foods are preferable.

Cereals should be thoroughly cooked because—

First.—Starch is thus made more accessible to digestive fluids when granules are broken open by heat.

Second.—Heat softens woody fiber (cellulose).

Third.—Cooking improves the flavor of cereals.

Until the fireless cooker came into general use it was sometimes a difficult and expensive test to cook the cereal as long as required without keeping a fire in the kitchen range all night or rising at an unreasonably early hour to start the breakfast. But these convenient little devices have very greatly reduced the time and cost of preparing foods which require long, slow cooking. A description and explanation of their use will be given in a subsequent article.

It has become the fashion in certain quarters to underestimate the food values of most of the cereal preparations now on the market. It has been asserted recently by a very high dietetic authority that ordinary white flour bread furnishes four times the nourishment contained in an equal weight of cereal. The fact remains that these preparations have served and are still serving an admirable purpose in making popular the use of a very necessary form of food.

The Solid Hoofed Hog.

There are some solid hoofed hogs in the world, but they are few and far between. Darwin has a great deal to say about such pigs in his "Origin of Species," as there were only three in England at the time he wrote this book. The solid hoofed hog is not a freak of nature, as many suppose, but a genuine case of reversion to a primitive or ancestral type. It seems that, unlike the prehistoric ancestor of the modern horse, which has four toes or hoofs, the old clotherium, from which animal all members of the swine family are descended, had a solid hoof, and in the course of ages, as the old parent form died out and the modern wild boar, domestic hog, peccary, etc., were evolved this solid hoof became through what Darwin calls "adaptation" and "natural selection" divided up into two parts, so that all modern hogs are cloven hoofed. Occasionally, however, a hog is born with the old original solid hoof of the primitive hog ancestor, thus demonstrating the tendency in all animals to revert now and then to the parent form.

Votes In Pawn.

In the delightful days of yore a vote frequently fetched hundreds of pounds. Poor electors would not wait for an election, but would borrow from the candidate sums of money, for which they would give promissory notes. And when the reform bill was spoken of to some electors in Stafford they expressed their pleasure at it and hoped that there would be introduced into the bill some plan for the better payment of poor voters! For the convenience of would be M. P.'s seats used to be procurable for £5,000 or £6,000 cash down, while toward the close of the eighteenth century the borough of Gatton and many others were actually publicly advertised for sale by auction. The sales were not for a single parliament, but the fee simple included the power of nominating the two representatives forever.—London Globe.

Chinese Names of Places.

Chinese names of places often define their character. Thus the terminal "yang" means fortress, Pingyang the "fortress of peace." "Cheng" means a walled city, as Fenghuangcheng the "Phenix walled city." "Shan" is a mountain, "hai" the sea, "kuan" a camp; thus Shankaikuan is the "mountain sea camp." A "ling" is a mountain pass; Motienling, near Mukden, is the "heaven scraping pass."

The suffixes "tao" and "to" indicate islands; "po" or "pho," a harbor; "wan," a bay; "kiang" and "ho," a river; "kow," a port; "fu," a first class city; "ju," a provincial capital. "Pei" is north, "nan" is south, "king" is capital. These suffixes help to explain such familiar names in these days as Sanshantao, Chemulpo, Talienwan, Yangtsekiang, Hoangho, Yinkow, Chefu, Anju, Peking and Nanking.—New York Tribune.

The Suspect's Declaration.

Parson White's precautionary measure of protecting his chicken coop with chilled steel bars was futile, for that very night four more of his choice Leghorns disappeared, leaving the severed and twisted bars as the only visible evidence of the theft. However, his suspicions pointed toward his next door neighbor, whom he had seen prowling around his yard that day, and accordingly he had this suspect up in police court the next morning.

"If the prisoner can file an alibi I'll let him off with a suspended sentence," announced the judge at the end of the evidence. "Can you file an alibi, Ham?"

"Ah guess Ah kin," eagerly rejoined the suspect, "if it ain't any hahder den Pahson White's chicken coop bahs!"—Brooklyn Life.

Taking One's Own Pulse.

Being able to "take" one's own pulse is a doubtful accomplishment, because the heart has some peculiarities the importance of which are sure to be overestimated except by physicians and much uneasiness occasioned in consequence. Irregularity of the pulse is natural to no small number of people without other signs of disease. It may also be simply a transient symptom, due to errors of habit or other causes which, disappearing, leave no trace behind them.

Misleading.

"That is a fat, prosperous looking envelope. Does our salesman send in a big bunch of orders?"

"Not exactly. That envelope contains a receipt for his last check, his expense account for this week, a request for a salary raise and a requisition for some more expense account blanks."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Couldn't Walk.

Wifey—You told me the other day we must avoid all luxuries and confine ourselves to absolute necessities only. Hubby—That's so, my dear. Wifey—Well, last night you came home from the club in a cab. Hubby—Yes, but that was an absolute necessity.—Fliegende Blatter.

Not an Earthquake.

Mrs. Houser (hearing tremendous noise in the kitchen)—Great goodness, Jane, what was that, an earthquake shock? Jane (calmly picking up the pieces of glass)—No, mum; only a little jar.

Willing.

"Jane, at the table we wish to be served with alacrity."

"All right, mum. Will you have it after the soup?"—London Answers.

Kindness is the golden chain by which society is bound together.—Goethe.

SECTION 1. That the public interest and convenience require, and it is the intention of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, State of California, to order the following street work to be done in said City, to-wit:

First: That all that portion of Franklin Court from the South line of Fourth Street to the North line of Fifth Street, including all intersections of streets (excepting such portions of said street and intersections as are required by law to be kept in order or repair by any person or company having railroad tracks thereon), be graded, oiled and tamped in accordance with the plan and profile on file in the office of the City Engineer, and specifications for the construction of graded, tamped and oiled streets on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Glendale, said specifications being numbered 9, excepting that from the South line of Fourth Street to the Easterly prolongation across said Franklin Court of the South line of Lot 8, Block 20, of the Town of Glendale as per map recorded in Book 21, pages 89-90 of Miscellaneous Records of Los Angeles County, California, in addition to the regular treatment under specifications Number 9, there shall be incorporated into the roadway a layer of gravel 2½ inches thick, of which the maximum pieces will pass through a 2½-inch ring and the minimum pieces will not pass through a ½-inch ring, in the following manner: When the roadway is tamped to within 2½ inches of the surface, the 2½ inches of gravel of the sizes as above specified shall then be evenly spread over the entire surface and tamped into said roadway, and then completed as provided for in Specifications Number 9.

Second: That a cement curb be constructed along the Westerly side of the roadway of said Franklin Court from the South line of Fourth Street to the North line of Fifth Street, including returns at all street intersections (excepting along such portions of the line of said roadway upon which a cement curb has already been constructed to the official line and grade) in accordance with the specifications for the construction of cement curbs on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Glendale, said specifications being numbered 2, except that on the West side of said roadway from the South line of the Fourth Street to the Easterly prolongation across said Franklin Court of the South line of Lot 12 of aforesaid Town of Glendale, the curb shall be placed six feet from the property line instead of the distance as specified in said specifications number 2.

SECTION 2. Said bonds shall be serial, extending over a period of ten years from their date, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable, by coupon, on the second day of January every year after their date, until the whole are paid, and said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum on all sums unpaid payable semi-annually, by coupon, on the second days of January and July, respectively, of each year, until the whole of said principal and interest are paid.

SECTION 3. THE GLENDALE NEWS, a weekly newspaper of general circulation, published and circulated in the said City of Glendale, is hereby designated as the newspaper in which this Resolution of Intention, and notice of the passage thereof, shall be published in the manner and by the persons required by law.

TROPICO

Mr. and Mrs. John Parker left last Saturday for San Francisco where they expect to remain one week.

Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Brush and Mrs. Wood and daughters, Misses Lulu Hunter, Edith Brush and Carrie Wood, passed Thursday last with Mrs. Marple and Miss Fannie Marple at their home on Parke avenue.

One of the features of the entertainment to be given on Friday evening the 15th by the Tropico Woman's club will be a humorous reading and German dance given in German costume by Mrs. Nanno Woods.

Last Sunday afternoon Mrs. Hal Davenport and son, Allen, accompanied by Mrs. F. E. Peters and mother, Mrs. Molaire, returned from a several days' trip to Irwindale. Mr. and Mrs. Lunn, whom they visited, returned with them and remained with Mrs. Davenport until Monday evening.

Mrs. C. C. Chandler gave a luncheon at her home on Cypress street recently, complimentary to Mrs. Clark of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler Clark of Los Angeles. After the luncheon at noon the guests were driven through the valley and expressed themselves as very much pleased with these almost celestial surroundings.

The young people of this place are making great plans for a charavari which they expect to give to Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Jennings at their new cottage on the west side of this place. Mr. and Mrs. Jennings were recently married and had hoped to escape, but the young people will take good care of that.

A pleasant affair this week was the luncheon given by Mrs. John Hobbs at her home on Central avenue to a number of her friends. The rooms were made unusually pretty with flowers. The guest list included Mesdames Andrew Stevenson, J. A. Logan, J. H. Webster, W. A. Hough, Clyde Carmack, Mrs. Boring, A. O. Conrad, and Frank Ballentyne.

What proved to be a most pleasing little social event was the luncheon given by Mrs. E. B. Ellias at her home at the corner of Tropico and Brand boulevard last Tuesday. The decorations of the various rooms were in green and red. The guests included Mrs. Charles L. Peckham and daughters, Frances and Gladys, Mrs. Edward Henry Weston, Miss Gladys Flora Bronson, Miss Lillian Ellias and Miss Emily Ellias.

Miss Mable Evans-Hough was pleasantly surprised at her home on Central avenue on Wednesday evening of this week. The affair was gotten up by several of her young friends and proved very delightful. After the effects of the surprise had passed away, the hours were very enjoyably passed in games and music, followed by light refreshments. The invited guests were Misses Violet and Alma Turner, Jennie Boring, Gladys Hamilton, Ruth Harrison, Nina Claver, Blanche Shea, Dorothy Hobbs, Catherine Hobbs, Mary Hough, Messrs. Fay Stone, George Barnes, Raymond Barker, Willie Marple, Willie Richardson, Frank Brown, Hurlburt Harrison, Merrill Blaine, Dwight Stevenson and Lewis Lappleman.

THE NEW BANK.

The following are the directors of the Bank of Tropico elected at a meeting held here a few days ago: Dan Campbell, W. H. Bullis, A. Stevenson, B. W. Richardson, Norton Wells. The bank is organized under the state banking law, all the capital ($25,000) paid up. Dan Campbell was elected president and J. A. Logan, cashier and secretary. A building association has been organized in connection with the institution and the erection of a bank building, to cost about $7000, will begin in about a fortnight. The building will be located opposite the Tropico Mercantile Co.'s store at the junction of Central avenue and San Fernando road on the three cornered lot at that point, and the bank will open its doors as soon as the building is ready for occupancy. The stock is well distributed in the immediate community and the prosperity of the bank seems assured in advance.

TROPICO METHODIST GLEANINGS.

The principal event in the church this week was the business meeting and social held by the Epworth League of the church in the church parlors Tuesday evening. After the business had been dispensed with the time was passed in several games the principal of which was the hat trimming contest. A prize was given to the man trimming the neatest and most artistic hat. Late in the evening refreshments consisting of pie and coffee were served.

The Ladies' Aid of the church held an all-day meeting in the parlors Tuesday of this week. This was the usual business meeting of the month and much business of interest to the society was transacted.

Next Sunday morning district superintendent F. D. Mathers will preach at this church, and following the preaching the usual sacramental service will be held.

DOINGS OF TROPICO PRESBYTERIANS.

At the annual business meeting held Wednesday evening, March 30th, the following officers were elected: Trustees, Messrs. C. C. Rittenhouse, George Ballentyne, Edgar S. Ayers, B. W. Richardson and Stillman E. Brown. Mr. Rittenhouse was elected president of the board, while Mr. Ayers and Mr. Brown were elected secretary and treasurer respectfully. Elders were elected as follows: For three years, A. R. Ballentyne and Edward Dissette; for two years, Remenes Van Kolken and J. Allen Adams. These four, together with F. C. Richardson, who holds over, constitute the session. At the morning service last Sunday the newly elected officers were duly installed.

The Christian Endeavor society surprised our young friend Roy Van Kolken last Monday evening at his home on Moore avenue, because he had dared life's battle for eighteen years. The evening was passed merrily in games and story telling. At 10 o'clock a bountiful repast was served by the mother, who had been informed of the coming surprise, after which, with many wishes for the continued life and health of the surprised one, the guests departed.

This evening the Christian Endeavor of our church will entertain the Epworth league of the local Methodist church in our church parlors. This will be the culmination of the spirit of good will received during the union services recently held.

The Junior Christian Endeavor society, after a prolonged vacation, resumed their work again last Sunday, and the outlook is favorable for a strong society.

Last Sunday morning the sacrament of the Lord's supper was celebrated in our church and the following members were received: Mr. and Mrs. James Rich, Mrs. Eliza Seal, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar S. Ayers and Miss Blanche Shea.

We want your trade on Chocolates and Caramels. We think we have the best. See our prices. FLOWER, 401 Brand Boulevard.

WEST GLENDALE

Mrs. R. H. Hammond of 1509 Ivy expects to leave shortly for a trip to her home in Virginia.

Mrs. Carrie Russ and son, George, were callers at the home of Mrs. J. O. Elliott on Wednesday.

Mildred Elliott of 1508 Ivy street, spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Ross B. Boyd of Ivy street, entertained a party of Los Angeles friends at dinner on Thursday last.

Mr. Ralph Wolfe is building a small cottage on Ivy street, west of Columbus avenue, his former home having burned some time ago.

Mr. W. R. Fisk and Miss Pearl Perkins, father and niece of Mrs. J. W. Everett of 1509 Hawthorne street, left Monday for their home in Eastern Oregon. It was their first visit to California, and they like most all other tourists were very much in love with the country, and particularly Glendale.

The relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Page who have been visiting them for some time, left last week for their home in Providence, R. I. While here they visited Southern California in general, also Mexico, San Diego and other places. They expect to make an extended trip through British Columbia, and other northern points on their return trip.

Any one wishing deer, bear or any other wild animals, for Sunday dinner, will please leave their orders at the homes of the following young men: Harry Boehme, Vernon Snively, Howard Bradley and Charley Wells. These young men left last Sunday for a camping and hunting trip and, of course, they will come home loaded to the guards with all kinds of game. Even though they do not kill all the wild beasts that inhabit the mountains back of Glendale, they will not go hungry, for their grub-box surely looked as though it was bursting with all kinds of good things for a crowd of hungry boys, and, anyway, they had a bull-pup along and he would help out wonderfully in case they should run short of rations.

WEST GLENDALE PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION.

At the recent social tea and bean bag tournament held at the residence of Mrs. Nanno Woods, vice president, the parents' prize, a very handsome cake, was awarded to Mrs. J. White. The children's prize, a box of Jevne's chocolates, was won by James Connor.

School Entertainment

The entertainment for the benefit of the West Glendale school, given last Friday was a marked success in every way. The hall was crowded to the doors and standing room was at a premium.

In the juvenile part of the program the pupils of the first and second grade carried off high honors, while those of the third and fourth grades received very enthusiastic encores to all their numbers. The singing of the boys and girls of the higher grades was excellent, and showed splendid training on the part of their teachers and also Mrs. Gibson, the music teacher. Harry Boehme was certainly the "hit" of the evening in his role as "Paddy from Cork," and his rendering of "A Letter from My Grandmother" was excellent.

Miss Fitzgerald gave some very choice readings and was heartily appreciated by all and responded to some spelndid encores.

The vocal selections of Mrs. Shank were more than appreciated, and her pickaninny song was especially pleasing to the children. Much comment was made by all in regard to the good behavior of all the children during the evening.

EAGLE ROCK

Mr. John Brewer of Mariposa avenue has recovered from the grippe.

Miss G. Cormack of Chicago is the house guest of Mrs. Mary J. Heckson of Hill Drive.

Mrs. T. H. Yourstone's new home on Oak Grove Drive is rapidly nearing completion.

Mr. Richardson of Eagle Rock canyon has just purchased a new Ford automobile.

Mr. T. Clemons of Stanley avenue will leave soon on a pleasure trip to Nevada.

The Eagle Rock Market moved suddenly Friday night to their new location at Avenue 28 and Dayton.

Mr. F. Fisher and Mr. R. Connaught will leave Saturday for Corcoran in Mr. Connaught's machine.

Mr. Walter Briggs of Los Angeles is visiting for a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. R. Bates of Stanley avenue.

Mrs. L. R. Garrett of Forest avenue had as her week end guest Miss C. Peterson of Casa Verdugo.

Sycamore and Stanley avenues have been graded and leveled. Colorado street has been graded and the weeds cut.

Contractor Kolbe of Fairmont avenue is erecting a house on Victoria street for Mr. R. J. Shankron of Los Angeles.

The Women's Twentieth Century club will meet at the residence of Mrs. F. K. Schrieber on Kenilworth avenue next Thursday afternoon.

The Ladies' Aid society met at the residence of Mrs. Charles Young on Sixth street, Thursday afternoon. A very enjoyable time was had.

Mr. Jesse Jones, who fell and broke his right arm at the Park skating rink last Saturday night is able to be up and around.
